Andrade Gonzalez LLP

Sean Andrade is an exceptionally talented and creative lawyer who is well known for his ongoing representation of the nation’s second largest school district, Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD), playing a critical role in leading the District through the recent chapter of numerous difficult and complex, multi-plaintiff tort matters and the subsequent high-stakes efforts to obtain insurance coverage for those same multi-million litigations. Over the last two years, the City of Santa Monica selected Andrade and the firm to represent it in a liability defense when it found itself facing what would be the most difficult, high-profile sexual abuse litigation it has ever seen. Despite the heinousness of the abuse and the involvement of some of the most prominent, highly skilled plaintiff lawyers, the firm has been able to successfully resolve all of the cases in three global settlements.

Matthew managed the appeal and conducted the oral argument on same. The opinion from the Court of Appeal was published and has already been cited numerous times for its import to long arm jurisdiction. He also obtained summary judgment on behalf of two co-trustees against another co-trustee. The co-trustee was ordered, among other things, to return over $1 million in trust assets and permanently removed.

MORGAN CHU

Partner
Irell & Manella LLP

Morgan Chu is a partner at Irell & Manella and one of the most recognized names in IP litigation. Chu has secured many of the world's largest, and in some cases precedent-setting verdicts, judgments and settlements, including most recently obtaining a $2.2 billion jury verdict in March 2021 for VLSI Technology in a suit against Intel involving microprocessor technology patents. Chu also secured a $1.2 billion judgment in April 2020 and the largest patent jury award of 2019 for Sloan Kettering Institute for Cancer Research and Juno Therapeutics in a suit against Kite Pharma involving a cancer immunotherapy patent. Additionally, Chu argued and won a 9-0 U.S. Supreme Court decision in December 2019 on behalf of NantKwest, persuading the justices to strike down a U.S. Patent and Trademark Office policy that applicants who appeal to a district court must foot the office's legal bills, no matter who wins.

MARK CRAMER

Shareholder
Buchalter

Mark T. Cramer is a shareholder in the Los Angeles office and chair of the firm's Class Action Practice Group. Cramer advises clients ranging from Fortune 50 corporations to start-up companies about how to manage actual and potential business disputes in the context of their overall business goals. He collaborates with clients, their executives, and in-house counsel to formulate and implement customized litigation strategies. For example, where one client's primary business interest was to resolve litigation to make the company more attractive to a prospective buyer, he negotiated a quick and favorable settlement to eliminate the exposure associated with the lawsuit. By contrast, when a large company was concerned that it was developing the reputation of being an easy mark for frivolous litigation, Cramer engineered a hard-nosed and aggressive defense that resulted in a complete victory for the client.

MICHAEL DE VRIES

Partner
Kirkland & Ellis LLP

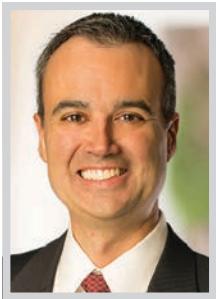

Mike De Vries is currently in his fourth in-person jury trial since the start of COVID-19. U.S. District Judge Laura Schofield who presided over Syntel v. TriZetto told jurors it was "in some ways a historic event." Everyone in the courtroom wore face coverings, and counsel and the witnesses stood inside plexiglass boxes when speaking, as a HEPA filter ventilated the courtroom. Kirkland attorneys reported that "you couldn't read the judge's expression, you couldn't read a juror's expression." Counsel was even forbidden from passing notes or whispering to co-counsel who were presenting. Despite the challenges that COVID-19 posed, De Vries secured $1.62 billion in two separate plaintiff-side jury verdicts won in 2020 alone. In addition to obtaining extremely favorable outcomes for his clients, these trial victories implicate important national and geopolitical issues, influencing IP protection strategies and guiding the adaptation of trial advocacy in technology disputes.

DANIEL DECARLO

Partner, Chair of the Intellectual Property & Technology Practice
Lewis Brisbois Bisgaard & Smith

Since 1992, Dan DeCarlo, chair of the Intellectual Property & Technology Practice at Lewis Brisbois, has focused his practice on complex business litigation concentrating on trademark and Lanham Act claims, and related intellectual property claims. DeCarlo ascribes to a litigation philosophy that stresses comprehensive early analysis and evaluation to plan an aggressive and result-oriented approach. He frequently lectures to business groups on intellectual property issues. Among his recent successes have been obtaining a trial victory and sanctions in the form of all attorneys' fees for his client, a martial arts studio franchisee; and winning a unanimous jury verdict for his client Harbor Breeze Corporation.

WILLIAM DELGADO

Partner
DTO Law

William Delgado is a seasoned litigator and a leader in the class action and IP arenas, representing names such as Costco, Target, American Honda, Walgreens, Ticketmaster, Penske Media Corporation, and Nature's Bounty. In a recent matter, he served as lead counsel representing American Honda (beginning as three different class actions in Alabama, California, and New Jersey) alleging that Honda vehicles incorporated a defective fuel pump. He obtained a stay of the California suit, and two were consolidated last year. He also secured a victory in a suit alleging a Honda motorcycle had a design flaw. He filed a demurrer arguing that the dealer agreement contained a choice-of-law provision identifying California law including California's statute of limitations, and that plaintiffs could not displace California law with Missouri's law, which had a longer limitations period. Court agreed with AHM's statute of limitations argument, sustaining the demurrer with leave to amend.

SIERRA ELIZABETH

Partner
Kirkland & Ellis LLP

Since joining Kirkland, Sierra Elizabeth has become one of the top litigation partners in Kirkland's Los Angeles office. In June, she won a complete defense verdict on behalf of 3M in the second of a series of bellwether trials pending in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Florida.
